Thus, Buddhist ideas could be easily blended with whatever local religious beliefs the monks encountered. Good thoughts will produce good actions, and bad thoughts will produce bad actions. I shall go to them, and to them shall I first proclaim the gospel of deliverance.

By his truth and righteousness man becomes a Brahmana. What pleasure is there in the hope of extinction? Solid rock is not shaken by the gale. It meant not the hope or desire for extinction, but the charming dream of thousands of lives, past and to come, in many forms, many conditions, many diverse fates.

I think you should try to live like either one and you will know the truth. If it is as a typical Christian life is to go to church on Sunday, pray, worship God, and try to live a more loving life, so the typical Buddhist pays homage to the Buddha, renews his bodhisattva vows, donates support for the sangha or temple, and tries to be a better person.
